Healthy mind, body and soul

By Sarah Assink

YOU know what they say, 'health is wealth', and boy are we lucky to live in a region that is bursting with local produce and passionate members of the community who offer so many different forms of healthcare.

It's quite clear that many local businesses in Gympie truly care about the health of the community.

And because every individual person in the region has such different health needs, we've put together this magazine in the hopes of highlighting different services that can hopefully meet them.

For the third edition of Gympie Today's lifestyle magazine, you can find out many ways to look after your mind, body and soul. As you flip through the pages, you'll see everything from locals dedicated to providing you with the best services, to colourful and hearty recipes made to soothe the soul.

You'll read about the best cosy reads to curl up on the couch and nourish your mind, and healthy hobbies to optimise your happiness.

Whether you're looking to get crafty, move your body or stimulate your mind - we've included a bit of everything for you.

We've really enjoyed getting to know the people of our region who are so passionate about the health and wellbeing of others, and we hope you'll enjoy reading our magazine just as much as we enjoyed putting it together.

Rediscovering the joy of play: Skate Like A Girl

By Chantelle Bozicevic

IN a world where responsibilities and pressures can weigh us down, Skate Like A Girl is providing a refreshing escape for women in the Gympie region. This empowering initiative spearheaded by Ash Tanner and Jekka Shearer, both homeschooled mums with a passion for physical and mental well-being, is transforming lives through the joy of skating.

Jekka Shearer's journey with Skate Like A Girl began when she joined the group on the Sunshine Coast. Recognising the immense benefits this inclusive community brought to her own life, she yearned to create a similar space closer to home. She gathered friends and together they embarked on an exhilarating adventure.

"I got my girl tribe on board, and about six of us started skating together," shared Jekka. Inspired by the incredible experience, Jekka's vision expanded beyond her immediate circle. She knew that Skate Like A Girl had to become accessible to women all over the Gympie region.

Every Tuesday morning, the vibrant Skate Like A Girl collective assembles. The sessions provide an opportunity for women of all skill levels to explore the exhilarating world of skating. Whether on scooters, skateboards, or rollerblades, participants come together to support, uplift, and inspire one another.

"What we've created is not competitive; it's about having fun, being creative, and helping each other through it. We want to make everyone feel safe and included," emphasised Jekka.

The impact of Skate Like A Girl extends far beyond the physical aspect of skateboarding. Attendees have been overwhelmed by the newfound sense of empowerment and connection fostered within the collective. Jekka explained how the supportive environment allows women to test their skills and embrace new challenges with confidence.

"One thing it provides is a safe place for women to feel like they can trial skills and do something new. Another one is community and network.

"We're finding friends through it; we're feeling empowered through it."

The mental health benefits of Skate Like A Girl are evident in the stories shared by participants. Engaging in skateboarding enables individuals to be present. Jekka says the concentration required for executing skills helps center the mind while providing an invigorating rush.

"You've got to be really calm, breathing... It creates a connection between your physical and mental state."

The impact of Skate Like A Girl on mental well-being extends beyond the skatepark. Through photography, Jekka captures the unique essence of each participant, turning moments of play into lasting memories. Several attendees shared how the deliberate act of dressing up for these sessions adds a sense of intentionality and camaraderie to the experience.

"It makes you really feel like you're a part of something," said Jekka.

Skate Like A Girl provides a gateway for women to rediscover the importance of play in their lives. In a society burdened with responsibilities, these sessions offer a precious opportunity to switch off from the weight of the world and embrace the carefree spirit of childhood.

"You feel like you get permission to play again, and playing is really a great thing."

"As adults, we forget that. We get all the responsibility, the weight of the world, and you can just, for the morning, switch that off, become a kid again, and play. It's so great," expressed Jekka.

The response to Skate Like A Girl in Gympie has been overwhelming. Each week, new participants join, often stepping onto a skateboard for the very first time. The growing attendance is a testament to the impact this collective has had on the lives of women in the community.

Skate Like A Girl is not merely about skateboarding; it's a catalyst for personal growth, fostering connections, and nurturing mental well-being. To keep up to date with the Skate Like a Girl collective and maybe even give it a go yourself, make sure to follow them on Facebook and Instagram! By empowering women to embrace the skateboard, Jekka Shearer and Ash Tanner are inspiring Gympie residents to live well, one ollie at a time.

Crafty quadrant strengthening community

By Donna Jones

THERE'S a single block in Gympie, just 100 metres long and wide, that is helping to strengthen the community through the shared engagement of craft.

The Maker's Corner, The Little Shop for Yarners are both located on Chapple Lane and Gympie Patchwork is just around the corner on Ray Street.

All are a mecca for people interested in crafting.

The Maker's Corner, owned and operated by Sarah Taylor, is more than just a shop full of fabric and sewing supplies.

Technically located in Berrie Street (on the corner of Chapple Lane), Sarah says the store is a chance for the Gympie community to invest back into their own community.

"I have a real responsibility to make this so much more than just a business.

"All this creativity can grow into a form of political activism," she said.

"It forces you into a type of radical self-love, because when you make your own clothes, you fall in love with your own body."

She said The Maker's Corner is predominantly designed to be a gathering place, and that's where the workshop space and classes will come into it.

Sarah said that by investing in creativity, it halts the progression of fast fashion and helps people to create garments that have meaning, that last, and most importantly, inject money back into the local community rather than sending it overseas to the billionaire owners of sweat shops so they can continue to extort the workforce.

"When you spend that money with me, I use it at the local store to buy produce, and then they use it to

Sarah says she likes to source end line dress making fabrics to "save them from being burned or end up in landfill," and making them an affordable product. She also runs creative workshops into things like dyeing fabrics using natural methods, beginners sewing, leather sandal making, knitting and more.

She has also taken to stocking items made by local artisans and has created a corner for another of the businesses on Chapple Lane that are open at select time, the Little Shop for Yarners.

The Little Shop for Yarners is located at 5a Chapple Lane and is owned and run by Kris Janke and Debra Cook.

Kris said she and Deb met through a shared love of art, at the Gympie Regional Gallery at which the pair collaborated on an exhibition.

Kris said they started the "ball rolling", pun intended, in 2021 when the opportunity to buy stock from a yarn store that was closing down presented itself.

They set the store up as an online business, but decided they needed a store front and warehouse type of arrangement to store their goods.

That's when the Little Shop for Yarners space on Chapple Lane was set up.

"We didn't really start out to set up a store, it just ended up that way - it's been a very organic process," Kris said.

The store opens on the second Wednesday of the month and the third Saturday, but people can visit by appointment through their Facebook page.

Ann Weller from Gympie Patchwork.

And now, with some of their lines available on consignment at Sarah's The Maker's Corner, there is even more flexibility for their regulars.

But new people are discovering the group all the time, said Kris.

Many would think that wool, yarn and knitting and crochet supplies don't really offer a lot of variety, but they would be wrong.

"With one range we've got about 120 colours, all made from pure European cotton."

Sarah Taylor from The Maker's Corner.

They also stock a small range of fibre art pieces from a former Gympie artist and members from the Gympie Spinners and Weavers group who often pop by.

Kris said they have one blend which is made from New Zealand possum fur, wool and silk.

"We're addicted to the good stuff," she said.

Kris said she and Deb love being involved in an industry that has such diversity and is proud to be part of the craft quadrant and said whether people buy from them, Sarah, or Ann Weller up at Gympie Patchwork, they are helping to keep money here in the Gympie community.

And the three stores communicate between them, to help their customers get exactly what they want, whether it be knitting and crochet, dress making or quilting supplies, which is Ann's forte.

Ann and husband David have been in the street the longest, with Ann's labour of love running Gympie Patchwork at 2 Ray Street for more than five years.

"Quilting is very relaxing," Ann said.

"It's very good for you."

"You get this marvellous sense of achievement. It's very rewarding to start with raw fabric and then end up with a quilt."

With winter well and truly upon us, quilting is a skill anyone can take up, Ann said.

"It's all straight stitching," she assured.

What's more, there are classes available at the store for beginners, up to intermediate and even on to advanced.

And with the tremendous range of fabric available, and everything you need at your fingertips, making your own heirloom keepsake has never been easier.

"We've got everything right here, fabric, threads, patterns, backing, wadding - we even carry a range of sewing machines which we sell on consignment from Morgan Sewing and Embroidery Centre in Hervey Bay," she said.

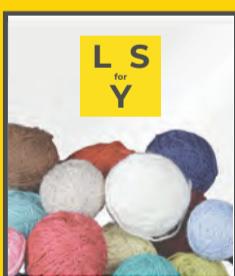

Plus, they have a sewing machine mechanic visit the store every month to service your machine if it's getting lots of use from all the quilt sewing you've been doing.

Between them, these three stores have all you need to get into fabric and fibre crafting and they are wonderful places to meet like minded people.

Look out for them all on Facebook, or pop into visit to check out their different ranges and products.

- 1 tbsp of vanilla essence
- Gel food colouring
- Sprinkles
- Disposable piping bags
- Star piping nozzle
- Palette knife and/or cake scraper

Method

1. Using an electric mixer beat the butter until pale and creamy (approx 5-7 mins) scraping the bowl down at least twice
2. Slowly add in your icing sugar a spoonful at a time while beating your butter
3. Add in your vanilla essence and milk- beat until combines
4. Colour 3/4 of the mixture with your main colour (blue) and the rest for your decorative piping (pink)
5. Fill the piping bag with the star nozzle, cutting the tip of the bag to size first, for the pink buttercream
6. Layer your cake on your board/plate with icing in between layers and use your palette knife or cake scraper to smooth buttercream around the cake - refrigerate for 30mins - 1hr
7. Decorate with sprinkles! I added more to the bottom with the back of a spoon and then placed them around the rest of the cake
8. Pipe your pink swirls on top and add some more sprinkles
9. Enjoy!

Baking has always been a fun activity to do with my mum and grandma since I was little! Volunteers making a difference

GYMPIE Medical Transport (GMT) was established in 2020 by a dedicated group of volunteers wanting to assist those in the Gympie community without access to medical transport as part of an assistance package.

In January 2021, our first vehicle was on the road, and now, due to high demand, we welcomed our fourth vehicle in May.

Run entirely by volunteers, GMT is thrilled to offer a personalised, safe, reliable, and cost-effective door to door service to residents of our community with non-urgent medical conditions and who require access to hospital and specialist services.

Without our newly established offering, those who didn't fall under the NDIS, Department of Veterans' Affairs or other Community Health Schemes, had to rely on public transport, family and friends or taxis to get to important medical appointments.

It's our aim to offer our clients peace of mind in knowing they will get to appointments on time and without any undue stress. In addition, knowing there is an ongoing, reliable solution available may alleviate concerns about relocating to be closer to medical facilities.

From Hervey Bay to Brisbane, and all

GMT's aim is to offer clients peace of mind in knowing they will get to appointments on time and without any undue stress.

points in between, we offer clients a completely dedicated, full service, one-on-one solution, meaning one car is provided with one driver, for one client only (and a carer if required).

We collect the client from their home, take them to their appointment, wait in the area until the appointment ends and take them safely home.

GMT does charge an affordable administrative fee; however, clients can claim this via the Queensland Health Patient Travel Scheme Subsidy.

We are looking forward to expanding our service so we can assist more and more people within our local community.

If you are a resident of the Gympie Regional Council and require transport services for your medical appointments not offered within the Gympie region, we can help.

If you'd like to learn more or have any questions, please phone the office during office hours, Monday to Friday, 8am to 12.30pm.

Light touch on skin cancer

JUST Skin Treatment Clinic is one of the only private clinics in Australia to offer superficial X-ray therapy; a revolutionary, evidence based non-surgical treatment for non-melanoma skin cancer.

This non-surgical treatment, prescribed by specialist dermatologists or radiation oncologists, uses a sophisticated skin cancer X-ray machine to safely cure non-melanoma skin cancers without the need for cutting or surgery.

With skin cancer affecting two out of three Australians by the time they're 70, having a choice when it comes to treatment options is exceptionally important for the overall health and wellbeing of those impacted.

Non-melanoma skin cancers such as Basal Cell Carcinoma (BCC) and Squamous Cell Carcinoma (SCC) are the most common type of skin cancer.

Superficial X-ray Therapy is an ideal treatment option for these cancers, particularly for those who prefer a non-surgical approach or when surgery is not appropriate.

Superficial X-ray Therapy is an established therapy that meets the strictest of Australian medical safety standards.

It is heavily supported by Medicare, which enables low out of pocket costs.

Due to this Medicare support there is no need for private health insurance.

Superficial X-Ray Therapy is completely non-invasive, meaning no cutting, stitches or surgical scars.

Award winning locals

GO Vita Gympie Your Health Shop was first known as Goldfields Plaza Health Foods when the doors opened in 1985.

The store was purchased by the Thomas family in 1987 and in 2000 joined a small group of health food stores and changed its name to Go Vita Gympie.

Today it is still a proudly family owned and operated business - one of over 120 stores supported by the Go Vita Australia banner.

Moving to Duke Street in 2016 allowed the opportunity to expand on their product range as well as open a coffee and cake corner for customers to come and relax and enjoy their in-house baked cakes and slices.

Drop in to see their fantastic range of nutritional wholefoods, supplements, organic meats and more, all locally sourced where possible.

Go Vita also stock natural skincare and hair care, environmentally friendly household products and giftware.

Two simple steps to save your teeth

ISN'T once enough, why do I have to brush my teeth twice a day?

"As a dental professional I am asked this question almost on a daily basis and my answer remains the same. You must brush twice a day," says Dr Mark Cull, Dentist at Channon Lawrence Dental.

Apart from the sensational feel of running your tongue over your smooth clean teeth, or that your breath is fresher, (kinder for your friends and partner), the answer lies in bacterial communication.

A process known as quorum sensing occurs between bacteria to help each other survive in the most inhospitable places, like between your teeth and around your gums.

As time progresses more and more bacteria bind to the tooth surface forming the layer we call plaque.

By brushing twice daily ensures that the plaque on your teeth never matures to a point where the disease causing bacteria can thrive and therefore you benefit by reducing your overall risk for diseases such as decay or periodontitis.

The other step is getting your teeth professionally cleaned regularly.

"You still need to visit one of my colleagues or myself at least once or even twice a year, because brushing and flossing doesn't manage to eliminate all of the plaque build-up in those hard to reach spaces between teeth and in your gums."

"This coupled with the fact that some individuals are more at risk for oral diseases means that many other underlying factors may need more specific management," Dr Cull said.

Holistic health approach

RENEE KELSO'S business, Bonnybrooke Body Therapy, is all about helping her patients back on the path to good health.

"Just lately there are a lot of people out there who are emotionally stressed and anxious, a lot of people are out of balance, or just need some time out," she said.

Renee has a number of therapies that can help ease stress and anxiety, depression and physical ailments like arthritis.

She works from her home at Harvey Siding, where she has a therapy room, and conducts Kahuna massage, Bowen therapy, Reiki and Polynesian floor massage treatments, all with the aim of restoring health, balance and harmony to her patients.

"Kahuna is an ancient Hawaiian style of massage with slow, rhythmic movements, it stimulates the lymphatic, circulatory, respiratory and digestive systems, so may be of therapeutic benefit for a variety of disorders, including irritable bowel syndrome, asthma and headaches amongst others. "Bowen offers a difference, and is great for patients to reduce pain by stimulating the nervous system.

Renee Kelso has a number of therapies for people but she can also do Bowen therapy on horses at Bonnybrooke Body Therapy.

"Each session can be from 40 minutes to 2 hours, depending on my patient's needs," Renee said.

While she mainly deals with two legged clients, she can also do Bowen therapy on animals, specialising in horses.

She is also a 100 per cent certified member of the International Institute for Complementary Therapists and is qualified to work within the NDIS.

Renee said she would welcome new participants.

Bunya Nut Soup

Ingredients

Soup

- 60ml (¼ cup) olive oil
- 1 brown onion, halved, chopped
- 1 garlic clove, crushed
- 2 medium (about 350g) peeled potatoes cut into 2cm cubes
- 400g Bunya nuts, raw
- 2 leeks, pale section only, washed, dried, thinly sliced

- 1.25l (5 cups) vegetable stock
 - 125ml (½ cup) thickened cream
 - pinch of salt
- Damper Lid
- 250g (cup) self-raising flour
 - 250g (cup) grated mozzarella
 - pinch of salt
 - 30g butter chilled
 - 60ml water

Method

1. Heat 1 tbsp of the oil in a large saucepan over medium high heat. Add the onion and garlic and cook, stirring, for 3 minutes or until the onion softens. Add the potato and leek and cook, stirring.
 2. Add Bunya nuts for 5 minutes or until leek softens.
 3. Add the stock and bring to the boil. Reduce heat to medium and gently boil, uncovered, for 20 minutes or until potato and nuts are soft.
 4. Remove from heat and set aside for 10 minutes to cool.
 5. While the soup is cooling, make the damper lid by combining the flour and salt in a large bowl.
 6. Use your fingertips to rub the butter into the flour until the mixture resembles fine breadcrumbs.
 7. Add the water to the flour mixture and use a round-bladed knife in a cutting motion to mix until the mixture just comes together, adding 1-2 tablespoons extra water if the
 - mixture is a little dry.
 8. Use your hands to bring the mixture together into several little balls then place on a floured surface and flatten slightly and leave to one side for a moment.
 9. Transfer one-third of the cooled soup mixture to the jug of a blender and blend until smooth. Transfer to a clean saucepan. Repeat in two more batches with the remaining soup.
 10. Place the soup over medium heat. Add the cream and stir to combine. Cook, stirring, for 5 minutes or until hot.
 11. Taste and season with salt.
 12. Transfer into a deep baking dish and top with damper rounds, placing each carefully on top of the soup mixture next to one another and sprinkle over fresh grated mozzarella.
 13. Bake in a preheated hot oven (200°C) for 20 minutes or until damper is golden brown on top.
- Serve straight from the baking dish at the table, being sure to include some of the damper and cheese topping with each ladle of soup.

Bunya nuts can be sourced locally and the cones can weigh up to 5kg.
